

God's Righteous and Impartial Judgment

Romans 2:1-11

Special Revelation

- To the Jews, God's chosen people, special revelation was given.
- We also have God's special revelation in that we have His Word in our hand.
- We should remember the following facts:
 - We are capable of committing sin.
 - By breaking one commandment, we are guilty of breaking all.
 - Committing a sin of thought is like actually committing the sin.

Morality

A glowing, fiery globe of the Earth is centered in the background. The globe shows continents in a reddish-brown hue and oceans in a bright yellow-orange, set against a dark blue, starry space background. The overall effect is one of intense heat and light.

- God judges according to the truth.
- The world's definition of morality has crept into the church.
- There is absolute truth in the universe.
- God's patience with us is not to punish us but to lead us into repentance.
- We should not act as holier than the rest of the world; rather we should be humbled that God considered us.

Humility

- We need to be forever humbled before God.
- God “will repay each person according to what they have done.”
- All will be judged.
- Simply knowing Jesus ought to motivate us to do good works.
- Only God is good, we cannot do any good thing unless He does it through us.

Doing Good

A glowing, cracked globe of the Earth is centered in the background. The globe is blue and white, with numerous red and yellow cracks running across its surface, suggesting a hot, molten planet. The background is a dark, deep blue gradient.

- The evidence of a life that is saved is a life that is changed.
- There is a great punishment in store for those who know the gospel yet refuse the truth.
- God has revealed Himself to all, and all will be held accountable.
- As God reveals our sins and shortcomings, we must ask Him for forgiveness.

Conclusion

- God hold's us accountable for the revelation He has given us.
- What will we do with that knowledge?
- We must keep our eyes on Jesus and do His will.
